COJ Billing Crisis

Joburg
a world class African city

The City of Johannesburg (COJ) has issued a statement following the Billing Open Day which was held on Saturday 12thAugust. The COJ attained an 88% query resolution rate and states that the billing crisis will be history by the end of the 2017/2018 fiscal period.

We at the JAA remind you to log your queries for matters that have not been resolved every month – in some cases you will be told that your prior query was closed and you need to log a new one, and in other cases you will be told that you don't need to log a new one because your old one is still open. It is always better to err on the side of caution and phone to check, lest you receive a pre-termination notice as a result of the COJ not having any record of your query.

CIPC introduction of additional payment method

Companies and Intellectual Property Commission
a member of the dti group

The Companies and Intellectual Property Commission will be introducing an additional payment method. In terms of this new payment method, customers will be allowed to use debit and credit cards directly after selecting a service on its website: www.cipc.co.za. The first service for which the payment solution will be implemented is annual returns.

Click here for the step-by-step guide on how the solution will be implemented for annual returns.
