2. There are several matters in which one or both of the parties have not filed heads of argument and/or practice notes and/or in which it is not clear what aspect of the case the parties intend to argue (where there are both interlocutory and main papers in the Caselines file). I would like clarity on precisely what is to be argued and whether matters are proceeding as soon as possible, so that Ms Mofikwe and I can allocate the matters to particular days/times in good time. I also wish to determine the format of the hearings.

3. Therefore, I request the parties, ideally by close of business on Friday (ie, 3 March 2023) but certainly by no later than 2pm on Monday 6 March 2023 to file a short note (by uploading it to Caselines and emailing it to my Registrar, Ms Mofikwe, at KMofikwe@judiciary.org.za) covering only the following topics:

   (a) Whether the matter is proceeding.

   (b) What aspect of the case is to be argued (ie, short explanation of whether main application is to proceed or explanation of what interlocutory point (eg amendment application) is to be argued). In all cases, the applicant is to record what relief it/he/she seeks in the hearing before me.

   (c) The preference of the party filing the note as to whether the hearing is conducted in open court or on Microsoft Teams.

   (d) Any days and/or times in the week beginning 13 March 2023 in which counsel IS NOT AVAILABLE for a hearing.

4. I am mindful that, in the short time available, it may be inconvenient for parties to liaise with one another to file joint notes covering the topics listed in paragraph 3 above. It is therefore perfectly acceptable for each of the parties in each of the matters to file their own notes.

5. Legal representatives who comply with this directive are excused from the requirement to file a formal joint practice note.

6. I retain a discretion as to whether to hold hearings in open court or on Teams. It will not always be possible to accommodate everyone's preferences because it becomes inconvenient to hold hearings in both formats on the same day (for example). I shall do my best to accommodate preferences – I may, for instance, select a day or two for online hearings and a day or two for hearings in open court – but I may ultimately have to decide to hold the entire roll on one or other format, simply for the sake of convenience. When expressing a preference for an online hearing or hearing in open court, legal representatives are please to give careful consideration to the quality of their internet connections, especially during loadshedding. While online hearings are often convenient for all involved, including me, I do not want to accommodate online hearings only for us to be interrupted constantly by bad connections.

7. Once I have the information described above, I shall issue a further directive in which the dates and times of each of the hearings, and their format, are set out.
